Unlike the copyright provisions of most publications, any of the material in this family history may be copied or reproduced, with the exception of that material reproduced herein with the express permission of the respective owners. Examples are the quotes from Tilba Times, and the photograph provided by the Australian National Library.

Front cover

The front cover shows a Tasmanian Blue Gum, Eucalyptus globulus. This particular specimen is growing in the Royal Tasmanian Botanic Gardens, and is believed to have been a sapling in 1818 when the Gardens were first established. Thus, the seed of this tree germinated about the time that our ancestor “Captain” Richard Martyn was born.

We have chosen this tree for the front cover, not only because of the date relationship, but also because to us it symbolises the Australian branch of the Martyns in a number of respects: This tree, like the Australian Martyns whose story is recorded in this family history, is substantial, is healthy, is pleasing to contemplate, and displays strength. The tree has also survived almost 200 years of all manner of environmental conditions, but has grown substantially in stature.

Foreword

This historical document is the result of the combined efforts of some enthusiastic and cooperative members of the Martyn family. It is mainly a family tree of John Martyn (1848–1907) and his wife Dorothy née Crawford (1852–1926), and their Australian descendants. As well, it shows some of the UK connections of John's parents, uncles, aunts, cousins and grandparents.

The work is intended for the benefit of the younger generations of Martyns (most of whom now have different family names because of marriages but who are still Martyn descendants), to help them understand how and where they fit into the Martyn family mosaic.

Such a document is quite dynamic in that the data change frequently with new or updated information emerging. Such a document can be reliable only if the source data are correct and complete. Please send corrections to Hilda Newley, Shirley Stevens or Narelle Watt, whose contact numbers are listed opposite.

The information has been collated in the following sequence:

1. The Martyn family, a brief narrative of how the Australian branch came to be from its beginnings in Cornwall, then Wales, then Pennsylvania USA and finally New South Wales.
2. A Martyn family “bonsai” tree. With names of 345 Australian descendants, 38 UK names, 57 men and 53 women marrying into the Australian branch, plus the original family of 10, it can be difficult to see where people in 2001 fit into the full tree. The bonsai tree gives a quick and brief overview of the relationship between surnames.
3. The “tree”. This displays the hierarchy of John and Dorothy's descendants, as well as some of the UK relatives. The numbering system used is logical and allows names to be inserted at any point without prejudice to the system. The method of progressive indentation of the ID numbers helps identify successive generations within family groups. As well, the use of underlining and paragraph separation helps to identify family subgroups and successive generations.

4. An alphabetical list of 503 names. The inclusion of each person's unique identification number allows quick and easy access to her or his place in the tree. If a name is known but its position in the tree is unknown, reference to the alphabetic list will provide quick access to the unique ID number, and because of the logical numbering system, that person can be precisely located in the tree.

5. Transcripts of six letters written to Minnie Maud Martyn in the period 27 October 1891 to 27 September 1892.

6. A brief chapter on a few of the close family ancestors, not directly in our ancestral line, included simply for general interest.

7. A selection of maps to help identify the location of the key overseas towns where our Martyn ancestors once lived.

8. A historical calendar. For those interested, it affords the opportunity to relate specific times in the life of an ancestor to major historic events.

Interspersed within the text and tables are some selected photographs and historic documents of interest.

To make acquisition of copies of this history available to as many family members as possible, production costs have been kept to a minimum. As a consequence, binding and reproduction of some of the photos and documents are “economy class”.

We would like to recognise the many who have helped us to create this Martyn Family History, and to express our appreciation of their contributions, without which this publication would have been impossible.

Of particular help have been family members Marion Armstrong, Minnie Collett, Bob Martyn, Hilda Newley, Noel and Ruth Ross and Narelle Watt. Others in alphabetical order are:

Chapter 1. The Martyn family

Cornwall

The family name of Martyn goes back in recorded history for at least 450 years. A History of Britain: At the Edge of the World? by Simon Schama (BBC London, 2000, pages 280–281) identifies Roger Martyn, a lawyer and churchwarden at Long Melford, who wrote a description of what the Holy Trinity Church was like just before the Reformation struck in the early 1500s. From the accompanying dates, Roger was certainly around between 1530 and 1560. He was “dismayed by the monochrome thing called the Church of England” and wanted to record for future generations what they would be missing.

There are records of Thomas Martyn, yeoman, married to Gertrude Turnadine, living in the parish of Crantock, Cornwall, in 1696. From then to the present day there have been something like 15 generations of Martyns descended from Thomas and Gertrude. As yet, a link from our family to Thomas and Gertrude is yet to be discovered, but as our branch also emanated from Cornwall there is a good possibility that the link exists somewhere. The year 2000 telephone directory for Cornwall has scores of Martyns listed.

John Martyn <sup>1.1.4</sup> was born on 31 January 1848 in the Cornish village of Ponsanooth, situated about 11 km to the south-west of the major town of Truro (see map in chapter 7). John’s parents were Richard and Eliza née Murton. Today in 2001 Ponsanooth is a tiny settlement with one general store, a church, a chapel and about 50 houses. The terrain is steeply hilly and covered in dense growth. One can speculate on the occupations of the inhabitants in the early 1800s, but the economy was certainly centred around the tin mines. The town of Lanner, about 5 km to the north-west of Ponsanooth, was an important tin mining centre until the late 1800s, when the ore ran out and mining ceased. No details are available about John Martyn’s life in Ponsanooth.

Wales

Records show that John Martyn was a mining engineer by occupation, and it is reasonable to assume that he received his grounding in mining techniques at Ponsanooth. The historic records section of the NSW Department of Mineral Resources lists John Martyn as having commenced mining in 1860. At this date he would have been 12 years of age. In those days it was the accepted practice for very young boys to follow their fathers into the mines to become vitally important family income earners. At the time that tin mining was slowing down, the Martyn family migrated to Wales, although precisely when and who specifically are not known. However, burial records show that John's older brother Richard <sup>1.1.3</sup> lived in Porth, Llantrisant and Barry, all relatively close to each other (see map in chapter 7). As well, a photograph of John's younger brother Francis <sup>1.1.5</sup> was taken in Porth.

As a young woman in 1901, the second child, Mary May Martyn, undertook a round-the-world cruise as a nanny to a wealthy family. Mary May wrote a detailed diary with references to Uncle Richard and Uncle George, whom she visited in Llantrissant and Porth late in 1901. So it is another reasonable assumption that at least all three brothers, and maybe the whole family, all moved from Ponsanooth, Cornwall, to or near Porth, Wales, possibly around 1865. Church grave records confirm that Richard (1838–1910) lived in or near Porth and Llantrisant.

Llantrisant is a remarkable little village perched on top of a very steep hill, almost a mountain, about 15 km west-north-west of Cardiff. There is some evidence to suggest that the family initially settled in the town of Porth, which lies about 10 km to the north-north-east of Llantrisant.

In the church graveyard at Llantrisant, which incidentally has magnificent 360° panoramic views of the surrounding countryside, there is a headstone marking the burial place of Richard <sup>1.1.3</sup>, his wife Blanche née Hicks <sup>1.1.3A</sup> and his 7-year-old grandson Reginald. The grave site is number 406a. The sandstone marker has been broken and lies in 4 pieces on the ground. The records describe this headstone as follows:

A white marble cross and sandstone kerb.
Faces east and north. Facing east are the words "In loving memory of Richard Martyn of Barry* (late of Porth) born November 3rd 1838. Died May 13 1910. Peace Perfect Peace. Also of Blanche Ellery wife of the above named who died October 21st 1912 aged 72 years. Nearer my God to thee."

Facing north are the words "Also of Reginald Martyn son of William Walter and Beatrice Mary Ash a grandson of the aforesaid born May 18th 1913 died December 8th 1920. Of such is the Kingdom of Heaven."

* Barry is a seaside town about 14 km to the south-west of Cardiff on the Bristol Channel. As Richard, his wife, his son, his daughter-in-law and his grandson are all buried in Llantrisant, one assumes that they had strong connections there, and that the times living in Porth and Barry were relatively short.

Close by is grave site 445, the burial place of Richard and Blanche's son Reginald <sup>1.1.3.4</sup> 1897–1965, and that of his wife Lydia. This monument was still intact in September 2000 and is described as:

A polished grey granite headstone and kerb facing east. Inscribed are the words "In loving memory of Lydia Martyn beloved wife of Reginald Martyn and loving mother of Melville and Glenys Porth Rhondda died Oct. 4 1960 aged 61 years. I came to Jesus as I was, weary and worn and sad. I found in Him a resting place and He has made me glad. Also her beloved husband Reggie died April 13 1965 aged 68 years. Reunited."

Richard would have been first cousin to Minnie Maud, Mary May and the other 6 children of John and Dorothy.

Pennsylvania

At a date not known but possibly around 1868, John emigrated from Wales to the USA. He met and married Dorothy on 13 March 1871 at the town of Stockton, Luzerne County, Pennsylvania. John would have been 23 and Dorothy almost 19. They were married in the bride's parents' home by the Rev. Charles H. Vandyne, a Church of England minister.

If you look at the map in chapter 7, you will see the town of Stockton marked. Stockton is on the banks of the Delaware River, about 80 km to the west-south-west of Brooklyn, New York. Chapter 7 also provides more details about Stockton, which in 2001 is a tiny village with a population of about 630. It is intriguing to speculate how John, from all the way across the Atlantic Ocean, met Dorothy in this remote place. A likely link is through the mining industry, as Dorothy's father Thomas Crawford was a miner by occupation.

During their married life in the USA, John and Dorothy had 3 children. The first was Minnie Maud <sup>1.1.4.1</sup>, born 18 May 1872, at Hazleton, Luzerne County. Hazleton is a large town about 110 km to the north-west of Stockton (see maps chapter 7). The second child was Mary May <sup>1.1.4.2</sup>, born 1 May 1874 at Olyphant, Luzerne County. Olyphant is about 65 km to the north-east of Hazleton (see maps chapter 7). Reginald Ralph Sleeman <sup>1.1.4.3</sup>, the third child, was born 12 March 1876 at Hollywood, Luzerne County. Hollywood is today a suburb of Hazleton, about 4 km west of the north of Hazleton city centre (see map chapter 7). Note that as well as the County of Luzerne there is also a town of Luzerne quite near to Hazleton.

Nothing is known about the family during this period, but as the area is known for coal deposits, one assumes that John was employed in the coal mining industry.

Annie H. Smith

The next known activity of the family is contained in a ship's record of immigrants dated 19 July 1877 and copied in this book. The immigrant ship Annie H. Smith (see photo this book) arrived in Sydney on 19 July 1877 having sailed from New York on 16 April 1877 with 53 married couples, 175 single men, 7 single women, 27 boys and 23 girls between the ages of

This is the sailing ship the Annie H. Smith, which transported John, Dorothy, Minnie Maud, Mary May and the infant Reginald Ralph Sleeman from New York to Sydney. Looking at this photo, it is difficult to imagine the crowded existence of 351 people for the 84 days of the voyage half way around the world. Photo provided by the Maritime Museum, Monterey, California, USA.

1 and 12 years, 8 baby boys and 5 baby girls, a total of 351 souls. During the voyage of 87 days there were 5 deaths and 2 births. The records further show that John, ages 29, a miner born in Cornwall and of Wesley religion, and Dorothy, ages 25, born in the United States and of Wesley religion, were passengers with their 3 children Minnie, aged 5, May, aged 3, and Ralph, an infant. As well, both John and Dorothy were shown to be able to read or write. The contract price for the voyage was £11 per statute adult. Children 1 to 12 were counted as 50% statute adult. Infants under 1 year of age travelled free.

If you look at the photo of the Annie H. Smith you will see that she is a graceful, three-masted vessel. Clearly she had to be of suitable size to carry 351 passengers from New York to Sydney.

It is not known what route the ship's voyage took, but by deduction we can be reasonably certain. At that time there were 4 possible routes. One was south and west about via Cape Horn, very unlikely because of the unreliability of good weather. A second was via the recently opened Suez Canal, suitable only for vessels with steam-assisted power. A third was south and via what is known as the “great circle” route into the high latitudes near the Antarctic. Although a fast route and favoured by the clipper trading ships, it was hazardous. The fourth and most likely route was what is known as the composite great circle route, somewhat slower but safer. This route was south to the bulge of Brazil to minimise the time spent in the doldrums, then south-east to the Cape of Good Hope. A stop at Cape Town to replenish fresh water and food was highly likely. From Cape Town it would have been east to Fremantle, being pushed along at a good rate by the roaring forties, and thence to Sydney.

Balmain

The family first settled in Balmain. Arthur Egbert<sup>1.1.4.4</sup> was born on 31 May 1878 in Balmain. The Sands Directory shows a John Martin as living in MacKenzie Street, Balmain, between 1877 and 1880. These dates are precisely those when John and Dorothy would have been living in Balmain, and while not confirmed, it is highly likely that the John Martin listed in the Sands Directory was in fact our ancestor John Martyn.

Our initial assumption was that John worked in the Balmain coal industry, but research revealed that coal mining did not start in Balmain until 1901, 23 years after the family lived there. So the next question became, if not mining in Balmain, why were they there? A reasonable assumption was that as the University of Sydney is only a little over 2 km by road from Mackenzie Street, John spent his time at the university gaining mine management qualifications. But research in the university’s Fisher Library revealed no records of John’s being enrolled in the mineralogy and geology course, the forerunner to the subsequent mining and metallurgy course. So at the time of writing, there is the unanswered question of what John did to earn a living for the 2 years they lived in Balmain.

The NSW Department of Mines has some interesting records of John, which have been made available through Mr Al Bashford of that department. The Register of the Holders of Certificates as Managers under the “Mines Inspection Act, 1901”, page 30, shows the holder of certificate number 168 to be “Martyn John. Address 111 Booth Street Annandale.<sup>1</sup> Place of Birth Ponsanooth Cornwall. Date of Birth 3.2.48 [that is, 1848]. Length and Nature of Previous Service: Commenced mining 1860.<sup>2</sup> Had charge of New Era Quartz Mine Stawell Vic 1882. Dromedary 1891/7.<sup>3</sup> Bora Creek 1898.<sup>4</sup> This Certificate was granted 31/7/1902.”<sup>5</sup>

Notes

1. This was at July 1902.
2. This puts John at age 12 when he first started mining. So assuming he worked in Cornish and Welsh mines up to the time he migrated to the USA, he had at least 11 years’ mining experience under his belt when at the age of 23 he married Dorothy.
3. Dromedary is Mount Dromedary on the NSW South Coast near Tilba Tilba and just south of Narooma.
4. Bora Creek is near Bingara, which in turn is about 50 km slightly south-west of Inverell (see maps chapter 7). A Bora Creek Copper Mine and a Bora Creek Gold and Copper mine operated in the period 1879–1905. At the time of preparing this material it is not known exactly how John Martyn was involved.
5. The other entries on page 30 of this register bear similar dates of July–August 1902. As the Mines Inspection Act 1901 was probably not proclaimed until 1902, this explains why John and the others, all of whom had mining experience before the turn of the century, had their certificates granted retrospectively.

Stawell

We do not know the precise date that the family departed Balmain and arrived in Stawell. It was certainly between June 1878 and June 1880, the birth years of Arthur Egbert and Blanche Elizabeth, respectively. Research through the Stawell Historical Society has revealed the following snippets of information about the family while they were living in Stawell.

- The Stawell News dated 2 August 1882 reported that at State School 502 during the Prize Giving, Mary Martyn received Fourth Prize, 1st Division, 1st Class. Our Mary May would have been 8 years of age, and as there were only 2 Martyn families living in Stawell at that time, this certainly would have been her.
- Microfiche records of Victorian births, deaths and marriages show in 1880 at Pleasant Creek (Stawell's early name) birth certificate number 17820 as that of Elizabeth Blanche Martyn, daughter of John and Dorothy Martyn. The records for 1882 birth certificate number 19407 also show Richard Thomas Sydney Martyn, son of John and Dorothy Martyn.
- The rate notices for 1882 show notice number 155 as that of John A. Martyn, miner, owner, house and land, Short Street; nett annual valuation £9.
- Living in Stawell at the same time was another Martyn family, Richard and Hannah Maria née Truscott. Richard Martyn was also a miner. Richard and Hannah also had two children born at much the same time as Elizabeth Blanche and Richard Thomas. These were Thomas Henry, born 1880, and Elizabeth Jane, born 1882. This is quite a remarkable coincidence in that both patriarchs of the uncommon spelling of Martyn were miners, the children's ages were close, and there is a lot of similarity in the given names in these two families.

It is not known what type of mining John was involved with, but as he "had charge" of the New Era quartz mine, a reasonable assumption is that it was gold.

Tilba Times

The following excerpts have been taken from the book Tilba Times by Laurelle Pacey and Norm Hoyer (published by Laurelle Pacey and Norm Hoyer, PO Box 439, Narooma, NSW 2546), and reprinted here with their permission.

Mt Dromedary Mine

Mt Dromedary Gold Mining Company began under the management of Mining Engineer John Martyn. He started in late 1891 with about 5 leases totalling 32 acres on the eastern side of Mt Dromedary.

The company's highest lease was about 2000 feet above the stampers. On the lowest lease, at the head of Tilba Creek, the company erected a 5 stamper battery driven by a 25 feet water wheel built by William Clow of Wagonga.<sup>6</sup> A large flume carried ore from the mines down to the hoppers (see photo page 12). Martyn worked the leases both on the company's behalf and on tribute 41. Water shortages in 1894/1895 restricted the quantity of stone which could be put through the plant. (Page 15)

6. Wagonga is about 12 km north of Tilba Tilba and almost due west of Narooma.

"Sherringham"

Thomas and Mary Forster selected most of what is now "Sherringham" in the late 1860s and early 1870s. William Griffiths selected a 40 acre block in 1870 where John Dawson built the present homestead using pit sawn slabs in about 1877.

Henry Alfred Hoyer bought the Griffith block and house privately and the Forster selections from the bank in the late 1880s. Henry was manager of the Joint Stock Bank in Cobargo from 1872 to 1897 when it closed. His nephew F. Charles Hoyer was on staff.

7. This is the ABC Cheese Factory.

Braeside and Anglevale

John Keir combined several selections in 1908 to form "Braeside and Anglevale", his own, John Britten's (later Simmons), Alexander Kennedy's and A. W. Pass'. John Keir had married Minnie Martyn, daughter of Mt Dromedary Mine Manager John Martyn and his wife Dorothy in 1894.

John Keir supplied ABC with milk from both properties from 1906 to 1911 with the help of Alf Hutchings. Then he supplied only from "Braeside". See photo in this book of "Braeside" taken about 1910.

"Anglevale" became the home of John and Minnie's daughter Dorothy and Peter Krestensen and family from 1932. (Page 63)

Inside the back cover of this book Minnie Collett<sup>1.1.4.1.2.2</sup> is listed as one of the information contributors. Reference 41 lists 20 date entries of the Tilba Tilba Times between 2.11.1898 and 4.9.1901.

An extract of John Martyn's death certificate shows him as resident at 114 Ruthven Street, Waverley, at his death on 10 October 1907. Similar information shows his widow Dorothy resident at 94 Cumberland Road, Auburn, at her death on 10 October 1926. John's burial place is the cemetery in Old South Head Road, Woollahra, NSW. Dorothy's burial place is the Methodist Cemetery, Rookwood, NSW.

Of the 8 children born to John and Dorothy, 3 only have descendants living in 2001. These are Minnie Maud <sup>1.1.4.1</sup>, Elizabeth Blanche <sup>1.1.4.5</sup> and Glanville Crawford <sup>1.1.4.8</sup>. The 140 living descendants include 3 grandchildren and 15 great great great grandchildren (6 generations). In 2001 only 3 males carry the Martyn surname.

It takes two to tango

In our society, the focus on genealogy is on the male side, simply because of our convention that when entering into a marriage agreement, the female forsakes her maiden name and adopts that of her husband. But when you consider it objectively, the Martyn family tree of John and Dorothy is just as much a Crawford family tree. And when you also consider the contributions that Dorothy Crawford made to the establishment, growth and various successes of her family and descendants, it could be claimed with some justification that Dorothy was the more successful contributor in that marriage.

Look at the photos of Dorothy in this book. Make some judgements about her character simply by observing her facial features and posture. There is pride, determination, directness, proprietorship, acceptance of responsibility. While these are of course purely subjective judgements, consider the evidence to support them:

- During the first 6 years of marriage, we know from the birth dates of her first 3 children that Dorothy moved house from Stockton to Hazleton to Olyphant to Hollywood.

- With 2 small children and one baby, Dorothy was prepared to join a ship with 350 other humans crowded together and to sail with her adventurous husband half way around the world to a little known frontier country. On the journey, which lasted almost 3 months, there were 5 deaths (4 children and one infant), but Dorothy ensured that her little family survived the ordeal.
- At a time when infant mortality was quite high, Dorothy raised all 8 children to adulthood. This speaks volumes for her care given to them.
- Her adventurous husband took her to live in at least 3 towns in the USA, and certainly took her to Balmain, Stawell and Waterloo. Glanville Crawford recorded that he lived with his mother in Tilba Tilba, Moruya, Leichhardt, Annandale, Waverley, Darlinghurst, Bronte, Guildford and Auburn. As it was at Waverley that John died, one can assume that Dorothy lived in at least 10 different locations. In those days, the 3 modes of transport were by horse, by sea or by foot. Although some railroads had been built around Sydney, there were no steam train services between their various destinations. The roads would have been little more than unsealed dirt tracks. As well as caring for her children en route, Dorothy would have had responsibility for packing and transport of her furniture and the family's possessions.

The following illustrate the distances typically travelled in these unsatisfactory conditions. From Balmain to Stawell by dusty unsealed road would have been a little over 1020 km. It is more likely, however, that they travelled by ship from Sydney to Melbourne, and then travelled "only" 200 km of road to Stawell. The return trip from Stawell to Waterloo would have been identical. From Waterloo to Tilba Tilba by road would have been 325 km, but here again it is possible that they travelled by ship from Sydney to, say, Narooma or Bermagui, or from Sydney to Nowra by ship and thence by road to Tilba Tilba.

Whether the means of transport were horse-drawn carriage or by sea, or a combination of both, the distances were great and the journeys would undoubtedly have been stressful for any woman, let alone a mother with a brood of children

- At a time when female life expectancy was around 60, Dorothy lived to 74, which suggests that she disciplined herself to live a moderate and balanced life.
- As reported above, the Martyn family (meaning of course Dorothy) managed the Sherringham property in the years 1892 to 1894, during which period Dorothy, at age 41, gave birth to her 8th child, Glanville Crawford, and supervised the marriage of her oldest daughter, Minnie Maud, to John Keir.

Thus, the historic facts lend credence to the assertion that Dorothy was indeed a remarkable woman.

Chapter 2. The “bonsai” tree

This chapter has two sections. The first section is a short cut to help you find generally where you fit into the full tree. We have called this the Martyn family “bonsai” tree.

The second section lists the birth surnames of women who have married in to the Martyn family, in recognition of their respective contributions to the Australian branch. Men’s surnames are shown in the tree as they have married Martyn women descendants.

Martyn family “bonsai” tree as at 26 May 2001

Given that there are about 330 descendants of John and Dorothy Martyn spanning 5 generations and 130 years, it is reasonable for any of the fourth- or fifth-generation descendants to ask “My name is not Martyn, so where do I fit into the Martyn family tree?” Examining the full tree can be tedious, time-consuming and sometimes confusing. Hence this “bonsai” tree to help get the mind simply and quickly around who is who. To illustrate this, here are two examples:

1. If my birth name is Darby, then my line going back is Ross, Krestensen, Keir to Minnie Maud Martyn.
2. If my birth name is Millett, then my line is Newley, Steward, Bricknell to Elizabeth Blanche Martyn.

Women who have joined the Australian Martyns

No distinction has been made regarding matters of successive marriage partners, nor whether the marriage has been a legalised relationship. These names have been included as recognition of their respective contributions, for without these women, the Martyn family would not be as it is today.

The “X” within an ID number is simply a substitute for the numeral “10”.

Chapter 3. Martyn family tree,

26 May 2001

The following information is correct only to the extent of data available at this date.

The numbering system allows for easy data correction, as well as easy identification of the respective family lines.

The start point has been assumed as that of Richard Martyn, born possibly around 1782. This will allow addition of data relating to Richard's brother John should new information come to light.

The Australian branch is the target audience for this book. This branch starts at 1.1.4 John Martyn and 1.1.4.A Dorothy née Crawford and concludes at 1.1.4.8.3.2 Christopher George Martyn.

Conventions used to record the data:

- Each successive generation of names is indented. The further the indentation, the lower down the tree.
- To help readers see the picture, John and Dorothy's children are in bold, grandchildren have a "G" in the left-hand margin, great grandchildren have a "GG" in the margin.
- Basic information only is recorded in this tree. Where available, additional information is shown in the accompanying alphabetic names list.
- Upper-case letters after the numbers indicate marriage into the Martyn blood line. The letter "A" denotes a first marriage. Where more than one marriage has occurred, the letter "B" denotes the second marriage, and so on. Lower case letters are used to indicate more than one marriage and issues as a consequence of such marriages: the letter "a" denotes issue of a first marriage, the letter "b" denotes issue of a second marriage, and so on.
- The ID numbers of the married partners are bracketed to further assist in identification.

This photo is one of about 600 in the Corkhill collection, held in the National Library, Canberra, and has a catalogue number of TT520. It has been reproduced here with the permission of the National Library management. The photo was taken during the first week of 1904 and shows a party of residents from the Tilba Tilba area who had a picnic on Montague Island. Towards the left of the group, standing at the end of the middle row with her hands behind her back, is Mary May Martyn<sup>1.1.4.2</sup>, aged 29. On the right and third from the end, sporting a distinguished looking beard, is John Keir<sup>1.1.4.1.A</sup>, Minnie Maud's husband. At this time, John and Minnie had 4 children living, so perhaps Minnie was at home minding the family and farm on this particular day. Bad weather set in during this day and the group became stranded on the island for some days. As a consequence, the island's residents' food larders were significantly depleted.

A copy of the signatures of the 26 adults who attended the Montague Island picnic. Note the signatures "M. May Martyn" and "John Keir".

This was the family home, named "Romani", believed to have been in Military Road, Guildford. This photograph was taken about 1917.

Notes

1. Leanne Beth Goodall disappeared without trace on 13 December 1978 after a Christmas party at her uncle's (Douglas) home at Concord, NSW.
2. John Martin Pioneer, Missionary and Saint is a book about the life of the Rev. John Martin, uncle of John Martyn<sup>1.1.4</sup>, founder of the Australian branch of the Martyn family. This book was written by the Rev. W. Terry Coppin and published by Charles H. Kelly, London, in 1910. A copy of this book is in the possession of Shirley Stevens née Martyn<sup>1.1.4.8.1</sup>. Hand-written in the flyleaf are two inscriptions. One reads "Mrs M Ellis 17 Carlton Street Granville". This will be Mary May Ellis née Martyn<sup>1.1.4.2</sup>. The other inscription reads "To May from Uncle George May 26 1919". Uncle George is most likely George Francis Martyn (1850–1930)<sup>1.1.5</sup>, John Martyn's younger brother.
 The circumstances surrounding the spelling change from Martyn to Martin are interesting. Quoting from page 74 of this book, "On October 27 1846 he [John Martin] wrote 'A passage in the life of that devoted missionary, Henry Martyn<sup>1</sup> has afforded me much encouragement'."
 Footnote 1 states: "A relative on the subject of this monograph, Mr John Martin purposely changed the spelling of his name lest anything in him should tarnish the glory that is associated with that of Henry Martyn."
 A copy of this book is also in the possession of Shirley Stevens. In the flyleaf are the handwritten names of Dorothy M. Martyn and Rita M. Ellis.
3. Henry Martyn ... Confessor of the Faith is a book by Constance E. Padwick, published by Inter-Varsity Fellowship, London, 1922, reprinted 1959. This book recounts the life of the remarkable Henry Martyn, who, among many achievements was created a Fellow of St John's College, Cambridge, in 1802 at the age of 21. In 1805 he was appointed chaplain to the East India

Chapter 4. Alphabetical names list,

29 April 2001

The surnames recorded here are those at birth.

The upper case alphabetic subscript to the number denotes the marriage partner into the Martyn blood line. "A" denotes first (or only) marriage partner. "B" denotes second marriage partner. "C" denotes third marriage partner.

The lower case subscripts identify successive marriages of Martyn blood line and help identify issue from first and successive marriages where these occur. For example:

Goodall	Amanda	114125a3b4	means that Amanda has descended from Beth Audrey Krestensen's first marriage (114125a) to Warren Joseph Goodall (114125A) through Brian Thomas Goodall's second marriage to Susan Sparrow (114125a3b)

b. = born m. = married; d. = died

The letter "X" within the identification number is simply a substitute for the numeral 10. Thus the number 11415X1 = 1.1.4.1.5.10.1.

Chapter 5. Correspondence

This chapter has transcripts of letters written to Minnie Maud by different people. At the time of compiling this family history book, these letters were almost 110 years old. The original letters are in the possession of Minnie Collett. The letter transcripts are included in this family history book because they provide some insights into the characters of the people of the time as well as some indications of the then living environment. As you read these transcripts, you will find many spelling mistakes and punctuation omissions. Look past these literary transgressions and focus on the messages, remembering that in those days it was considered an esteemed attribute to be able to read and write at even the lowest level of competence.

Letters from a friend

John Watson
"Timbour" or
"Jimbour", Balmain
October 27 1891

Dear Min,

You must not think because I have not written, that I have forgotten my "old young friend". I have been rather busy lately in connection with a "Fancy Fair" in aid of the Balmain Cottage Hospital. Then Mrs Marshall's return kept me much occupied.

Well first let me answer your very kind letter, and then I shall give you a little news. It is really very good of you to write to me, & it gave me real pleasure to hear of the doings of yourself and May. I am pleased Reedy Creek has some beauty about it for your eyes to feed upon, & I almost wished I could sit with you girls under the willows & have a long chat about Balmain & its people. Certainly it would be worth something to catch yourself and May washing under the trees. I am quite domesticated now & could do the wringing. What a time we would have? you quite alarm me about the snakes but I suppose it is because I am a stranger to those gentlemen. I trust I always shall be. You must be very careful & I think the hammock idea a good one. You have however a good protector in Willie who I trust will not allow May to break her neck off the horse. Tell May that precious people are scarce just now. I was not aware you did not leave Sydney until Thursday. Had I known I would have seen you off. On the Wednesday I was obliged to attend a Concert at Willoughby & did not arrive home until near 1 am. Well Min, Bachelor's Quarters is now a thing of the past. I have resigned my commission & given up making porridge. By the way, do you want a good cook down there as I am open for engagement. My wife sister (merely a slip of the pen) returned from England on Monday (yesterday) they are all well with Giley and Hilda much grown. They were glad to get back for after all there is no place like home. Now that I am free I shall probably ... [the rest of the letter is missing]

Comments

The author was a close church friend. Also clearly the letter originated in Balmain, but the address of Timbour or Jimbour is unknown. Most likely a building name. The letter identifies the Martyn family as having moved very recently from Balmain to Reedy Creek. The exact location of the settlement of Reedy Creek is not known, although Reedy Creek is still a named watercourse. From records it seems the settlement was about 10 km to the north-west of Tilba Tilba, near the present-day towns of Eurobodalla and Nerrigundah.

Dear Miss Martyn

At a Teachers Meeting held in November last reference was made to your severance from the School, by the Superintendent, Mr Druce, who spoke of your self-denying labour in the Mother's Service & of the interest taken by you in leading the Children to Him who said "Feed My Lambs". Upon the Motion of Mr Druce it was unanimously resolved "That the Meeting record its regret at the severance of Miss Martyn from the School, at the same time desires to express to her its sincere thanks for the many years of useful work spent in the Master's Service.

In conveying to you the above resolution I can but express the wish that the good seed you have already sown may bring forth fruit & that where'er your lot be cast, years of usefulness & happiness may await you.

With all good wishes for the coming year, I am, Yours Sincerely, John Watson. Hon. Sec.
Montague St. Wesleyan S. S.

Comments

This Mr Watson is the same author as in the previous letter. Clearly this letter was an "official" letter, hence the formal tone.

Minnie would have been 19 years of age at this date. Fairly obviously the Wesleyan S. S. was a Sunday school. The "many years" referred to by Mr Watson is interesting. We know from the mining records that John was a mine manager in Stawell in 1882, and that Richard Thomas was born in Stawell in 1882. We also know that Dorothy Eliza was born at Waterloo (about 5 km from Smith Street, Balmain) in 1888. We don't know when the family left Stawell, or if they went directly to Waterloo from Stawell. Thus Mr Watson's comment of "many years" suggests that the family did in fact live in Waterloo for a number of years before the move to Tilba Tilba.

Letters from Mother and Father

Dorothy Martyn
Reedy Creek
April 10 1892

My Dearest Minnie,

I was glad to hear from you & that you feel a little better. I don't want you to come home yet I want you to get strong first, everything is very slack now since the show is over, Tuesday before the Show I had fifteen for dinner for tea and stay all night, Saturday after the show I had seventeen for dinner I tell you Min I was nearly knocked up all together, now I have had a face ach but now I feel better & it would be foolish to bring you home yet so content yourself, I am not able to send you any more money just yet as I haven't taken but very little since the show & how soon your father gets his back money I don't know, Ralph has been working this last week and came home yesterday by himself father couldn't leave the place for Guckey [?] has been on the spree ever since last Sunday Ralph said he was as drunk as a lord yesterday. Will went over to Tilba yesterday week was coming back on Monday but went to Nelson with the Boss in the cart went back on old Fannie [?] got home here on Wednesday night since then him & his brother has been breaking in horses it has been the fun of the world you did miss a good laugh for three of the horses are Meneasa horses and the one that Will got is a Visage bruit [vicious brute perhaps] I told Will he will kill him if he don't mind, Johnny Bottin rode on the little poney yesterday and on the filley and they are breaking in Torn as well so he can go in the buggy, what made you think we was going to Tilba to live has May been saying anything about it there is no place over there to get but to Dawson place & thats three miles from Tilba if he moves over there he wants us somewhere near the mountain so he wouldnt have to go to the hotell you know he can run up a bill in no time there we havent got any furniture so we will have to stay here & put up with the cold I dont here anything about a stove are chimnes & the oven is falling in with the rain I suppose & old age it will go on its end is soon, oh bye the bye we had Miss Narragunda here all night friday & a son of hers he was going back to Sydney he works in a bank you ought to hear her growl when we charge her sixpence for the horse being in the paddock I was sorry after I didnt say 1/- [one shilling] she said it was scandless to charge for a horse I dont think she will stop going back she was talking about going the other way so she will have more stops for its 25 miles from Tilba to ... [rest of this sentence missing]

Around the edges of this letter are the following additional notes:

I will send some money as soon as I can

I tore the paper two soon & wouldnt take any more so good buy god bless you remember me to James and Charley & his young lady I dont know her yet but I might some day it is time to stop with such rubbish so no more from your loving mother D Martyn

Comments

It seems Dorothy took in paying guests and also cooked meals for travellers, for the likely reason that in so doing she earned some income.

My Dear Minnie

it seems such a long time since we saw you that we are all longing to have a look at your dear little self we cant scarcely wait till you come home May sais to day oh I am longing to see Min so I think your stay will be short now, I wish you could bring Aunty down with you it is very nice here its not half so cold here as Reedy last week for two or three days we had ice up till dinner time and smoke enough to blind you thats over at Reedy Creek, Bo Johnson brought our things over here he bought Mr Wales big Coach & had two good loadsto bring well Min its no treat to shift any distance on these roads, but I was glad to get away this place is about the prettyest place I have seen for a longtime, there are five bedrooms a big pantry a big passage through the house it will take a long length of oil cloth to cover it is about 11 yards long and very nearly a yard and a half wide so there no fooling about in that passage, two of the bedrooms are bigger than Mrs Henderson front bedrooms, a kitchen dining & front room & a nice wash house with copper in, all we want now is a good load of furniture to make it look nice. I want you to get a large white quilt honeycomb like that one that was on the front room bed & two smaller ones not too small as two of the bed are not quite single beds I would like a good many things brought down but cant as I havent got the money, I suppose you have been looking for a letter all week but we have been to busy hoping uncle and aunty and yourself are are all quiet well with love to you all and all friends your father is talking about writing a few lines so I will stop just now stop short never to go again.

Well Min, when are you coming home let us know, the day and the hour, as near as possible, and if I can manage it, will come to Bermagui to meet you, and if I cant come myself, will make some arrangement. Most likely from Hardys Hotel, instead of Whiffen. Mother says if you can do it you had better get a couple of common table cloths. The Dining table we have now is about a yard and a half long, and nearly the same width. Enclosed please find enclosed P.O.O [Post Office Order] for £5. You are advised not to spend too much as it is wise to have some "oil in your vessel", in the shape of a little spare cash in the event of your being carried over your port, or any other contingency.

Tell uncle that we have any amount of black swans, on the lake in front of the house, and I am seriously thinking of getting a gun. Love to poor old Bones. Your fond, Father, J A Martyn

Comment

These two passages from Minnie's mother and father were written in the same letter.

In Dorothy's prior letter dated 10 April Dorothy appears surprised that Minnie has heard from someone about a proposed move to Tilba. Nine weeks later they are in Tilba.

Letter from "Auntie"

Fig Tree
Hunters Hill
Tuesday 6 Sept 1892

My dear Minnie,

Enclosed is a letter which came to us on Friday evening Uncle thinks by the postmark it is from Tom Martyn if it is you must let us know how he is when you write to him remember us kindly to him.

We were pleased to hear from you once more, you did not say whether all were well, so we take it for granted that you have taken up work for the Master & hope & pray that you may have his blessing.

I had a letter from Albert Davies a fortnight ago saying that Mrs D [presumably Mrs Davies had been ill with Inflammation of the lungs she was then a little better. I had a letter the same day from Mr Burdelfo [?] & Rosie I wish I could send you Rosie's letter Uncle says she is a mate for May she sent her love to dear Minnie. Alice is leaving her place this week I think, she will be up on Thursday I will try to persuade herto go down to your place for a change, I am sure she needs it. Mr Henderson is out of work again Jim is still bottoming chairs I went with Jim H to see Bob [?] on friday she looks fat & well, Uncle & I went to a tea meeting saturday evening in connection with our meeting, went to Jim's for dinner & tea on monday, they send their love to you. Jennie wishes you were with her. Charlie & Agnes send love I am going to the Melba [?] this afternoon she is very bad. I forgot to say I got the bag all right & am much pleased with it, not a bit too large, I think, I will put [?] a pink drawing string on it.

Comment

It is not known who "Auntie" is. There are two possibilities. One is that she is Mrs Ralph Crawford, wife of Dorothy's brother. See the photo in this book of Ralph Crawford and his wife Mary. The other possibility is that it is Dorothy's sister Lizzie Lynn, who is believed to have lived for a time in Australia. See the photo in this book of Dorothy and Lizzie taken about 1890. Taking into consideration the footnote comment in the next letter, from cousin Thomas Martyn, the "Auntie" is most likely Ralph Crawford's wife Mary.

The "Fig Tree" address is very likely the lovely old and grand house "Fig Tree", which was demolished to make way for the northern approach to the Gladesville bridge near Huntley's Point.

Letter from Wales

Thomas Martyn
1 Meadow Cottage
Cross Inn Road
Llantrisant Wales
27 September 1892

Dear Minnie,

Perhaps you thought to have received a letter from me ere this & perhaps you were disappointed but when you get this you are welcome to say he is long winded as of old but as long as you don't scold me to muck I'll forgive you for not writing to you before. I wrote your father about a month ago & in this letter I told him about his little nephew [this is William <sup>1.1.6.1</sup>] that I took to Cardiff infirmary about his foot but they could do nothing for him & consequently last Thursday the Dr amputated the foot - poor little chap he has suffered terribly but I hope it is over for this time it has been a great trouble to your aunt Ophia <sup>1.1.6</sup>. I have stayed here with her since I came home going up to the Porth every other week to see your uncle & Aunt & cousins, altogether I have had a nice quiet time enjoyed myself & have got quite fat. I cannot sing or make any noise of any description yet but they tell me That I can make noise enough.

I am going to see uncle John on Saturday should go before but Willie being in the hospital I have stayed here until I saw they were going to do with him. so now I'll have to be good for a week or two you might say that is if you can well I must try at any rate.

This place is altered & I find young men and women in place of children when I left home, they know me but they have to tell me who they are before I know them I passed two of your uncle Richard's <sup>1.1.3</sup> daughters in the street & didn't know them they are grown up too fine young women taller than you Minnie not any better looking though & I think they give me more sauce than you did but there I must not praise yours or you might forget when I see you again.

Your uncle George <sup>1.1.5</sup> is the same old chap. don't say anything but you may have a new aunt soon this is only whispering now I would like you to see him, he is really a nice old torment I take a back seat now when he is about I find I cannot tease worth a cent. Uncle Richard's time is taken up with his bands he is just back from his holidays he is very quiet in the house something like your father. he has got a very good place in the works so has his son Reginald <sup>1.1.3.4</sup>. Also see mention of Reginald and his wife Blanche in the Martyn Family text at the beginning of this book] a very nice boy married & one son so you see there is plenty of Martyns in this part of the country 28/7/92 Ophie is home from Cardiff Willie is doing well.

Letter from Aunt Mary this morning inviting me to see Henry going tomorrow evening Manchester to see Dr Harris a throat Specialist.

Now Minnie I must stop I don't know whether Ophie is going to write to you a few lines or not I think so Please remember me to Mr & Mrs Crawford with best wishes for their health etc. Also to Mother Father May and all the children love to yourself & I hope that you are enjoying good health.

From your loving cousin Thomas Martyn

Comments

This Thomas Martyn is a bit of a mystery. John's older brother Richard <sup>1.1.3</sup> had 3 sons, Percival, Reginald and Richard. John's younger brother George <sup>1.1.5</sup> had one son, James Vivian. Therefore, Minnie had no first cousins by name of Thomas Martyn. Thomas Martyn <sup>1.4.7</sup> could not have been this man, because the Mary he refers to as "Aunt Mary" is the mother of Thomas <sup>1.4.7</sup>.

The Aunt Mary and Henry mentioned above are very likely to be Mary Dorcas née Beecham, the wife of the Rev. John Martin <sup>1.4</sup> (see Note 2 to the Martyn family tree); and one of her sons, the Rev. Henry Martin <sup>1.4.4</sup> (not to be confused with the Rev. Henry Martyn <sup>2.3</sup> in Note 3 to the tree).

It is pure supposition, but by the tone of this letter, Thomas is a bachelor and at the time of writing is a mature man, perhaps in his late forties to early fifties.

Chapter 6. Some UK connections

The bearded gentleman is George Francis Martyn <sup>1.1.5</sup>, composer and bandmaster, and younger brother of John Martyn. The smaller and rather indistinct photograph is that of George Francis in the centre and Glanville Crawford Martyn <sup>1.1.4.8</sup> to his right. This photo was taken in 1918 or 1919 when Glanville was engaged as an artilleryman in France during WWI. In the bottom left hand corner of the larger photo, the photographer is identified as "A Davies, Royal Studio, Porth."

<sup>1.4</sup>, Richard Martyn <sup>1.1.3</sup> and his wife Blanche née Hicks, George Francis <sup>1.1.5</sup>, Ophelia <sup>1.1.6</sup> and her son William <sup>1.1.6.1</sup>, and of course to our direct ancestor John <sup>1.1.4</sup> and his wife Dorothy <sup>1.1.4.A</sup>.

Chapter 7. Maps

Map 1. Part of the English county of Cornwall, showing Ponsanooth, the birth place of John Martyn.

Map 2. Cardiff, South Wales, and the towns of Llantrisant and Porth, where the Martyn family lived after migrating from Cornwall.

Map 3. Map of Pennsylvania showing the locations of Stockton; St Clair, where Dorothy was born; Hazleton, where Minnie Maud was born; Olyphant, where Mary May was born; and Hollywood, a suburb of Hazleton, where Reginald Ralph Sleeman was born. Stockton lies on the Delaware River, the border between the states of New Jersey and Pennsylvania. Stockton is where John and Dorothy were married, in Dorothy's parents' home. Owing to boundary changes, Stockton is today in the state of New Jersey. It is likely that when John and Dorothy were married, Dorothy's parents' home was on the west bank of the Delaware River, and thus in Pennsylvania.

The following information comes from the Borough of Stockton today:

Stockton, located along the Delaware River north of Lambertville, was first known as Reading Ferry and subsequently Howell's Ferry. With the arrival of the railroad, the name was changed to Centre Bridge Station which corresponded to the post office and hamlet on the Pennsylvania side of the river. With the establishment of its own post office in 1851, the village was renamed Stockton. The Borough was incorporated in 1898, having been separated from Delaware Township.

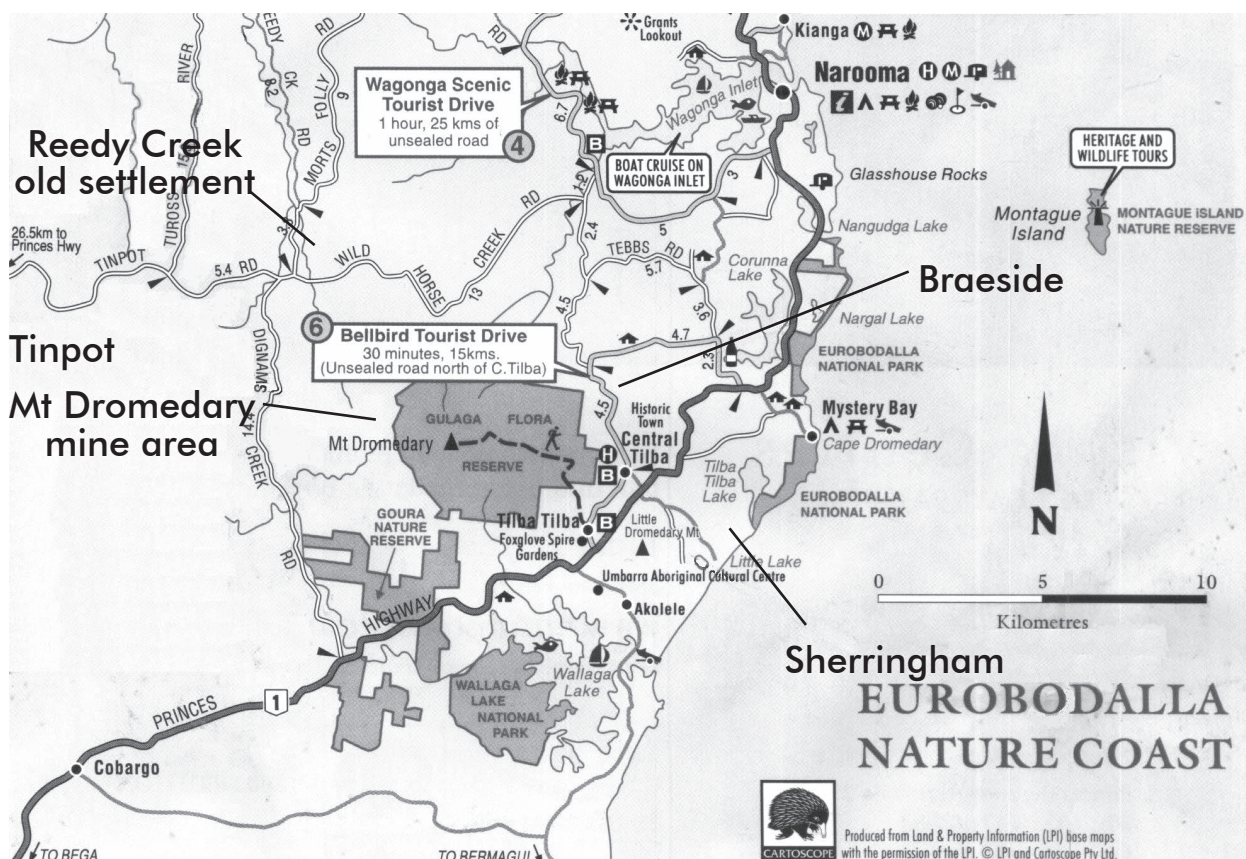

The tiny town remains today as it was in the eighteenth century. For all its small size and charm, the town is presided over by an old inn. The Stockton Inn (formally known as Colligan's Stockton Inn), established in 1710, is the inn that was immortalized by Richard Rodgers in the song "There's a small hotel with a wishing well", sung in the Broadway play "On Your Toes". The inn was first built as a private residence and it is believed to have been converted in 1832.

The Delaware River Mill Society was formed to preserve and promote the buildings and site known as the Prallsville Mills. John Prall, Jr., became the owner of the site in 1794 and with his settlement the area became known as Prallsville.

Also in Stockton you will find the oldest, established in 1832, three room school house in New Jersey that is still in operation today. The school has been educating students in Stockton in grades kindergarten through the sixth grade for the past 165 plus years. Stockton School is well known for its small classes that give individual attention to each student and is compared frequently with local private schools.

Map 4. The South Coast of New South Wales, showing the locations of Mount Dromedary, Tilba Tilba, Tinpot and "Sherringham", and the general area of Reedy Creek. Reedy Creek is where the family initially moved to from Balmain, before taking up residence at "Sherringham". Reedy Creek exists today on maps, but the settlement has disappeared. It is possible that the present-day town of Eurobodalla is a rename of Reedy Creek. (Note: The Mt Dromedary mine area and the Reedy Creek old settlement locations are approximations only.) This map has been reproduced with the kind permission of the publisher of Eurobodalla Nature Coast.

Cargo boats, also carrying passengers, arrived in Bermagui, just south of Tilba Tilba. The Martyns probably landed here. On arrival they lived at Reedy Creek. Later they moved to "Sherringham". John Martyn mined for a while at Tinpot with a partner. The family then moved to "Gunday" on the western side of Moruya (44 km north of Narooma). John probably worked at the mine at Womban, south-west of Moruya. The family probably left by boat for Sydney from Moruya.

The Bricknells lived at Couria Creek, just south of Tilba Tilba, after moving from Bondi.

Readers will find Stawell (37°4'S, 142°46'E) in an atlas of Australia, and Balmain, Waterloo and the other Sydney suburbs where the family lived in a Sydney street directory.

Chapter 8. Historical references

The motivation for this section comes from the philosophy of “How can I know where I am going lest I first understand whence I came?”

We don’t live in isolation. We are influenced and shaped by events outside our own domains. As well, even though it may be in a very small way, we influence others by our own activities. Thus, to better understand the lives and behaviours of our ancestors, it helps to know something of the environment in which they lived. To illustrate this, consider the following hypothetical questions:

- What happened in the years immediately preceding John and Dorothy’s migration to Australia and may have caused them to consider leaving what was to become a very prosperous country to migrate half way around the world to a little known and sparsely populated land founded on British penal settlements? Perhaps it was the aftermath of the very recently ended American Civil War.
- In 1896, two years after Minnie Maud was married, women in South Australia were allowed to vote at state elections (a world first). To what extent might this have affected the way Minnie Maud and Mary May would have felt and acted?
- Clearly the horrifying 1914–18 war affected Glanville Crawford, because he saw active service in France. But how would his mother Dorothy have felt about this?
- In the late 1920s and throughout much of the 1930s, the world was gripped in a severe economic depression. Which of my ancestors would have been affected by this? Further, do I really understand how this decade of painful experiences affected their decisions, which in turn have had an influence on my life?

A little device to help answer such questions has been to include in this chronicle of historic events the birth, marriage and death dates of John, Dorothy, their 8 children and spouses where appropriate, as well as just a few of the UK branch in close relationship to John. For ease of identification, the Martyn names have been printed in bold.

The information, tabulated by year and starting in 1801, just before the birth of John’s father Richard, and concluding in 1972, the year of the death of Anne, wife of Glanville, is by no means comprehensive. It simply illustrates a few of the major events which occurred during the time span between the birth of John’s father and the death of the last of the first generation, Anne née Woods Martyn. This may stir some readers to research a bit further to gain a more thorough understanding of “whence I came”.
